

MOVING MOUNTAINS: HOW I LEARNED TO LOVE GOD'S WAY BOOK ★

A must-read for any spiritual married couple looking to boost their nuptials, writer Angela Fedrick-Lewis's Moving Mountains: How I Learned to Love God's Way focuses on the essential characteristics and tactical vision that it takes to keep love alive through a firm belief in God. —J.H.

OUT OF THE FURNACE MOVIE ★

Zoe Saldana and Christian Bale team up in this thriller about a man who takes the law into his own hands when his brother goes missing. Out of the Furnace hits theaters Oct. 4.—J.H.

THE WATSONS GO TO BIRMINGHAM HALLMARK CHANNEL | TV ★

Based on the Newbery Honor-winning book that tells the story of the Watson family as they travel from Flint, Mich., to Birmingham in the summer of 1963 (the year four little girls were killed in the bombing of 16th Street Baptist Church), The Watsons Go to Birmingham marks Tonya Lewis Lee's (wife of director Spike Lee) debut as a screenwriter and producer. Starring David Allan Grier, Wood Harris and Anika Noni Rose, the film captures a historic summer experience the entire family should learn about. The film will premier on Hallmark Channel on Sept. 20. —J.H.

BAGGAGE CLAIM FOX SEARCHLIGHT | MOVIE ★

Featuring a cast full of celebs including Djimon Hounsou, Taye Diggs, Tia Mowry-Hardrict, Jill Scott, Trey Songz, Lauren London, Derek Luke, Terrence Jenkins and Christina Milian among others, Baggage Claim is a comedy about a woman named Montana (played by Paula Patton) who refuses to be the oldest woman never to wed in her family. Hilarity ensues. The film opens Sept. 27. —J.H.

THE WATSONS: CROWN MEDIA; BAGGAGE CLAIM: TONY RIVETTI JR.; OUT OF THE FURNACE: EPK; MOVING MOUNTAINS: CREATE SPACE PUBLISHING